

Activities of the Chilean Academy of Sciences 2017 in support of women scientists

In 2017, the video contest of Chilean women in sciences took place again.

There were awards and honorable mentions in the student and the general public category.

The link to the page displaying the winners and the corresponding videos is:

<http://www.cientificaschilenas.cl/ganadores/>

In 2017 our Academy also awarded the yearly Adelina Gutierrez Award to an outstanding young woman scientist, up to 40 years of age.

This year this award, named for a pioneer Chilean woman astronomer, was obtained by Dr. Andrea Paula-Lima, for her studies on the abnormal cellular and molecular neuronal mechanisms displayed by a rodent model of Alzheimer's disease.

<https://www.academiadeciencias.cl/doctora-andrea-paula-lima-recibe-el-premio-de-excelencia-academica-a-investigadora-joven-adelina-gutierrez-2017/>